The Power of Ancient Egyptian Images
Dr. Rune Nyord, Assistant Professor at Emory University

Lecture: December 12, 2020 1:30 p.m. - 2:30 p.m

Sponsored by Pam McRoberts and Eva Kirsch

Click HERE!! to Register Online.

email: info@arceoc.org web: http://www.arceoc.org

Post-Lecture Hangout

Join from PC, Mac, Linux, iOS or Android: https://csusb.zoom.us/j/82342733265?
pwd=TEF0Z2ozTmxHYU5ybG1wU0Q1dkRxdz09
Password: 224165

Or iPhone one-tap (US Toll): +16692192599,82342733265# or +12133388477,82342733265#

Or Telephone:
Dial:
+1 669 219 2599 (US Toll)

A picture may be worth a thousand words, but sometimes the way in which they are used can provide conflicting ideas for their meaning. This will be a fascinating talk on what images meant to the ancient Egyptians.

Rune Noyord’s December talk addresses this and presents a number of examples that provide clues to how the ancient Egyptians experienced and thought about images. Whether the images are from “portraits” idealized beyond recognition, or even borrowing other people’s features from lines and drawings, used to affect the depicted persons for good or ill, the Egyptians share with modern man the fascination of leaving a “record” of their physical passage through life.

Assistant Professor of Ancient Egyptian Art and Archaeology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, Rune Noyord’s research focuses on questions of images, personhood, and funerary religion in ancient Egypt, especially during the early second millennium BCE. He is the author of Breathing Flesh: Conceptions of the Body in the Ancient Egyptian Coffin Texts (2009) and Seeing Perfection: Ancient Egyptian Images beyond Representation (2020). He has edited and co-edited several anthologies and volumes of conference proceedings.

If you are not yet a member of the [American Research Center in Egypt (ARCE) Orange County Chapter](mailto:AmericanResearchCenterinEgypt OC Chapter), now is a great time to sign up. It’s your chance to enjoy many ARCE membership benefits and become part of our mission of facilitating the study, excavation, preservation and renovation of important historical artifacts and sites from the Pharaonic through the Medieval Period.

Sincerely,
ARCE-OC - American Research Center in Egypt Orange County Chapter

American Research Center in Egypt Orange County Chapter | Bowers Museum, 2002 North Main Street, Santa Ana, CA 92706

Unsubscribe {recipient's email}
Update Profile | About our service provider
Sent by info@arceoc.org powered by

Constant Contact